Technology at the University

- 70% of students say that they learn better when there is a mix of technology and interpersonal instruction
- 86% of students have a laptop
- Students need to use technology to do homework outside of class, so it is good to use technology for in the class

-Many students use technology at the university but they don't use it to help them in the class they are in
-There are some students that don't have electronic devices so the use of technology in a class room may cause a type of segregation
-The daily life of students includes the use of a lot of technology- there needs to be a time for a break
