

James Carr, M.S.W. has nearly 10 years of experience in social work, providing aid to adolescents and families as well as adults with developmental disabilities. His work has also included providing individual and group-based therapy that is strength-based and culturally aware. In addition, he has specialized in Wraparound services as a facilitator and fidelity specialist, facilitating Child and Family Team meetings, and providing training to clinicians and peer partners within the Wraparound model.