

Debra Hullaby has worked in mental health systems since 2004. She has applied her knowledge and skills to a range of professional responsibility fields, including family support, substance abuse, and case management. She has also designed and trained curricula for professional development in these fields. She regularly plans and coordinates events concerning mental health and well-being.