

Lisa Muller is a public education specialist with the Resource Center for Family-Focused Practice at UC Davis Continuing and Professional Education. As a child-welfare specialist, she develops curricula for child welfare and probation training, as well as provides technical assistance relating to child welfare and probation. She has more than 19 years of experience in public child-welfare services in California as a social worker, supervisor, and program manager. She has also worked in a foster family agency and a group home setting. As a child welfare manager, she developed and implemented the Resource Family Approval program. She was also the Commercially Sexually Exploited Children (CSEC) coordinator for her previous county and she developed and implemented the county CSEC protocol. She has extensive knowledge in CSEC, resource family approval, emergency response, court investigations, family reunification, in-home services, transition-age youth, Safety Organized Practice, and trauma-informed practice.