

Colleen Paul, an L.M.F.T. with a specialty in infant-parent mental health, has more than 20 years' experience providing direct services to at-risk children and families involved in child welfare, juvenile justice and mental health. Paul currently works for the UC Davis Continuing and Professional Education Resource Center for Family-Focused Practice, with an emphasis on training to enhance knowledge and practice statewide to meet the needs of at-risk infants, young children, and their families. Paul's experience also includes facilitating Child and Family Teams (CFT), as well as supervising and training county staff on CFT meeting facilitation and the Core Practice Model. Paul is trained in child-parent psychotherapy, University of California, San Francisco, the neurosequential model of therapeutics, Child Trauma Academy and has completed training with the Napa Infant Parent Mental Health Fellowship and the Napa Reflective Supervision Consultation and Facilitation Training Academy.